

PRESS RELEASE

15 June 2010

CAISSON INVESTMENT MANAGEMENT OPENS DUTCH OFFICE

Caisson Investment Management, the independent investment management group, has opened its first Dutch office in Amsterdam and has appointed Vincent Spruijt and Jouke Boomsma to head the Netherlands team, providing fund and asset management capability in Holland and continental Europe.

Vincent and Jouke, previously of Valad and JLL respectively, bring with them strong complimentary asset management and investment acquisitions skills to the Caisson Group. The new team will work closely with the London HQ to provide investment management services including asset management in the Netherlands and Europe. Caisson Netherlands has already secured an asset management contract and is actively bidding on further investment portfolios.

Vincent Spruijt comments: "I have had the benefit of working with a number of the Caisson team for some years at Teesland and then at Valad and I am excited about being part of an investment management group who wish to create a research backed high quality service to clients."

David Carter, managing partner of Caisson Investment Management, says: "Vincent and Jouke are two highly talented individuals with great contacts and complementary skills sets who share our desire to create a top class independent investment management group. We are already working well with them and they are a key part of our long-term strategy."
